ROCKVILLE, MD, November 26, 2013 -- Emergent BioSolutions Inc. (NYSE:EBS) announced today the appointment of A.B. He will also serve as the chief compliance officer, responsible for overseeing the risk and compliance systems and policies for the company's global operations, as well as the corporate secretary to the board of directors. Cruz, who recently retired as a rear admiral in the U.S. Navy Reserve, will report to Daniel J. Abdun-Nabi, Emergent's president and chief executive officer.

"A.B. brings to Emergent 33 years of experience gained from the legal, business, and military fields," said Daniel J. Abdun-Nabi, Emergent's president and chief executive officer. "His impressive skill set, which combines the sound judgment of a proven legal advisor, the entrepreneurial mind of a business leader, and the leadership qualities of a senior military professional, makes him uniquely qualified to help advance Emergent's business goals and mission."

Cruz most recently served as reserve deputy director of maritime operations at U.S. Fleet Forces Command in Norfolk, VA. From 2008 to 2012, he served as chief legal officer and corporate secretary of Scripps Networks Interactive and from 2004 to 2008, as executive vice president and general counsel of The E. W. Previous to that, he represented various clients for several well-established law firms in Washington, D.C.

Cruz graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1980 and held progressive positions during his tour on board USS Gray, a Navy frigate. In 1984, he served as an admissions officer and congressional liaison officer at the U.S. Naval Academy and in 1986, he accepted a commission in the U.S. Navy Reserve. Cruz held numerous operational and staff positions in the special operations and special warfare areas, including multiple tours of duty within the Navy Expeditionary Combat Enterprise and Naval Special Warfare community. His first assignment as a flag officer was as deputy commander, U.S. Naval Forces Southern Command and deputy commander, U.S. 4th Fleet in Mayport, FL.

In his distinguished 33-year navy career, Cruz was awarded multiple Legion of Merit Medals, Meritorious Service Medals, Navy Commendation and Achievement Medals, and the Commander-in-Chief Pacific Fleet's Shiphandler-of-the-Year Award.
